

$15 MILLION GOLF CLUB PROJECT TOLD

PALM SPRINGS GOLF CLUB plans outline development of a $15 million project expected to require at least three years of continuous construction. Fronted by a planned shopping center on Highway 111, the 332-acre club also features an 18-hole golf course, along the left and top border of the map, with 240 estate-sized fairway homesites. In the center of the project is an area devoted to 300 garden cottages. A driving range lies to the right and below the cottage area and a 12-acre hotel site, to be occupied by a major resort hotel, is situated directly above the shopping area. Construction is already under way on the golf course and work is expected to start within a few weeks on the first cottages. The developers plan to use only local labor and materials. More than 200 men will be almost continuously employed in construction of the project. (Desert Sun Photo).

Construction Planned in Three Stages

Work Started On Championship 18-Hole Golf Course

Developers of the "biggest project in resort area history" — the $15 million Palm Springs Golf Club — today announced the beginning of construction of the first stages of a three-year building program.

Morton B. Zuckerman, president of Westview Development Corp., said work has started on an 18-hole championship golf course, first segment of the sprawling country club project. STRETCHING ONE mile from the east city limits on the north side of Highway 111, the development covers 332 acres and includes plans for 300 garden cottages, 240 fairway homesites, a major resort hotel and a complete modern shopping center and clubhouse.

Zuckerman, prominent Detroit commercial and subdivision developer, estimated the total club evaluation, on completion, at $15 million. "THIS IS UNQUESTIONABLY the largest project ever undertaken in the Palm Springs area," said Frank Bogert, executive vice president of the Westview Corporation. "Nothing this size has ever been planned before."

Fanning out east and north from the property line at the city limits and Highway 111, the projected club is fronted by a shopping center site and a 12½ acre hotel site.

The southeastern portion of the project includes the second stage of the development — garden cottages programmed as a "new concept" in resort area living.

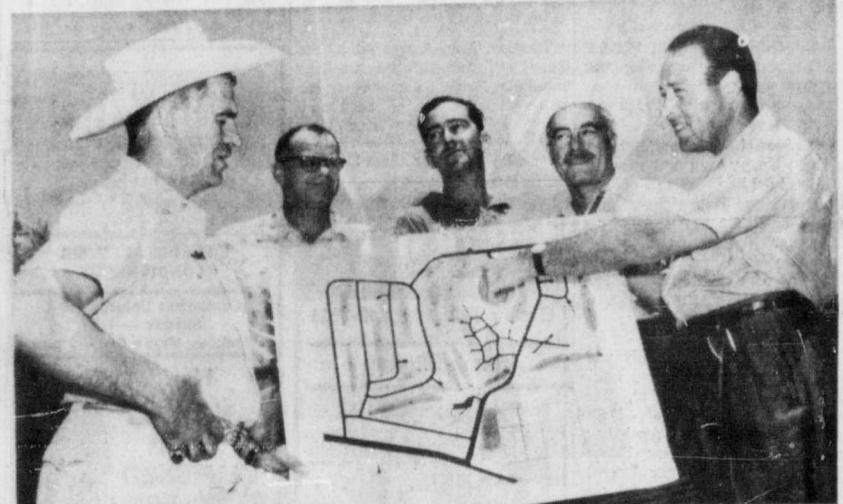

LUXURIOUS ONE and two-bedroom cottages, to be constructed simultaneously with the golf course, will surround a huge swimming pool and recreational area, containing tennis and shuffleboard courts and other sports facilities.

The remainder of the land is devoted to the golf course and its homesites.

EXCLUSIVE SALES agent for club properties is Golf Club Sales Company, headed by Village Realtor George Gannon, company president.

"We want to emphasize the point that this is not a promotional venture," Zuckerman remarked. "Our golf course is now under construction and our model cottages will be started immediately after the plans come off the drawing board."

ZUCKERMAN SAID he expects the course to be completed by fall. The 6,652-yard course was

Ike Invites Gen. de Gaulle To Visit United States

PARIS (UPI) — President Eisenhower today invited Gen. Charles de Gaulle to visit the United States in the near future.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles extended the invitation in a two and a half hour meeting with de Gaulle in which he attempted unsuccessfully to persuade de Gaulle to drop his plans for making France the world's fourth nuclear power.

THE TALKS CONTINUED informally through an official lunch. This afternoon Dulles had a date to confer with French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

De Gaulle and Dulles met around a table in the general's office at the Hotel Matignon with a small group of other French and U. S. officials.

There was no official information about the meeting but informed sources said these main points were raised:

Two Die, 10 Injured in Desert Area Accidents

New Record Predicted on Traffic Toll

California Leads Rest of Nation In Fatalities

By United Press International

The nation's Fourth of July weekend highway death toll steadily mounted today at an even greater rate than sober pre-holiday statistics had forecast.

As of 9 a.m. p.d., a United Press International count showed 167 traffic deaths since the Independence Day weekend officially began at 6 p.m. local time Thursday.

IN ADDITION, there were at least 62 drownings, three deaths in plane crashes and 24 other deaths in miscellaneous accidents for an overall holiday death count of 235.

California led the nation with 13 traffic fatalities. Texas had 10 highway deaths while New York and Ohio had nine each.

THE NATIONAL Safety Council, which had originally predicted 410 highway deaths, said drivers had better put on the brakes or a new three-day Independence Day weekend death record would be set.

"The best way to check this is by better behavior behind the wheel," Safety Council President Ned H. Dearborn said. "The very enormity of the toll should serve as a sobering shock to every driver and a grim warning that danger is riding the highway."

Highway police continued to mobilize all forces at their command but the count still piled up.

THE SAFETY Council's prediction of 410 highway deaths meant safety officials expected a new high in fatalities for a three-day Fourth of July weekend. The current record was set in 1955, when United Press International counted 391 roadway deaths.

Morrison Resigns Board Position

Palm Springs Board of Education Member Fred Morrison today announced that he has submitted his resignation from the school board to the County Superintendent of Schools. The resignation is to take effect "at once."

Morrison, appointed to the board and elected its president one year ago, said he resigned because of "the welfare of my business, family and personal health." He said he had contemplated his resignation for some time, but decided to wait until he had completed his tenure as board president.

"MR. FUN FAIR," better known to area residents as Ed B. Mullins Jr., of Palm Desert Pharmacy, was unveiled at the second annual Fourth of July Fun Fair staged at Shadow Mountain Club yesterday by the Palm Desert Chamber of Commerce. Following his "crowning" by Chamber Manager Lou Kuehner, Mullins presented prizes to two desert area women who guessed his identity from picture clues printed in The Desert Sun. First prize winner was Emma Jane Ames, right, of Rancho Mirage. Ethel Faulkner, of Cathedral City, also correctly guessed the mystery man's identity, but was awarded second prize because her contest entry was made after Mrs. Ames. Crowning of Mr. Fun Fair opened a fun-filled variety show that capped the day long Independence Day Fair. Hundreds of desert area residents filled the club grounds from opening time at noon until the last skyrocket exploded in the big fireworks windup. (Desert Sun Photo).

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — A storm.

little girl was killed and at least 26 other persons were injured early today when a fireworks warehouse exploded and burned in a spectacular display of noise and destruction here.

Two nearby homes were burned and others were damaged. Windows were shattered for blocks around.

NINE OF THE 26 injured remained hospitalized after treatment. Most of those hurt suffered from shock and cuts. Authorities probed the ruins for other possible victims.

The little girl, not immediately identified, lived in a home near the warehouse. The home was burned.

The explosion rocked houses over a wide area and awakened Portland area residents for miles around. Those living nearby reported a steady series of blasts lasting about 10 minutes which sounded like a continuous thunder.

Loyalists Bomb Rebel Positions In Lebanon Today

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Government batteries bombarded rebel positions in the port city of Tripoli for the third straight day today in an effort to flush out Syrians the army said were hiding in no man's land.

In Beirut, the government—angered by United Nations reports denying "massive" Syrian infiltration—retaliated by expelling seven United Arab Republic Embassy officials and employees.

The Tripoli fighting was concentrated again in the no man's land separating the rebel-held old parts of the city and the government-held new city. Buildings in between were being reduced to rubble by the tank and mortar fire.

Two Remain In Critical Condition

3 Village Youths Escape Serious Injury in Crash

The resort area Independence Day traffic toll today marked two dead and ten injured, two critically, as the result of three, single-car auto accidents last night and early this morning.

A Los Angeles man and an eight-year-old boy were fatally injured and the boy's father suffered critical injuries in a one-car crash at Thousand Palms.

CALIFORNIA HIGHWAY Patrol officers said Autry Darby, 37, and Wayne Darby, 8, of Los Angeles, were pronounced dead on arrival at Casita Hospital in Indio.

Robert Darby, 26, father of the boy and believed to be the brother of Autry, was reported in critical condition at Casita Hospital.

OTHER OCCUPANTS of the Darby car, all believed seriously injured, were identified as Tony Darby, 6, Audrey Darby, 10, and Dalton Darby, 46.

Three occupants of a passing car were injured by rocks hurled across the highway as the rolling Darby car ripped into the highway shoulder. Injured were Mauricia Rios, 97, Louis Duran, driver of the auto, and Mary Duran, 27.

Hospital officials said Darby was still undergoing surgery at 10 a.m., almost seven hours after the accident occurred.

HIGHWAY PATROLMEN were unable to determine the cause of the crash. They said the car rolled over on Highway 59 at Sierra Del Sol Road at about 3:15 a.m.

Another, almost simultaneous, Highway 99 crash critically injured Charles S. Ingalls, 55, of Temple City, the highway patrol reported.

PATROLMEN said Ingalls' west-bound car went off the highway two miles west of the scales, near the Highway 111 junction, and overturned on the highway shoulder. Ingalls, only occupant of the vehicle, was thrown from the rolling car.

He is still unconscious from a possible skull fracture and is undergoing treatment at San Geronimo Pass Memorial Hospital in Banning.

THREE PALM SPRINGS youths miraculously escaped with minor injuries when their car failed to negotiate a sharp Highway 111 curve at Palm Desert.

Slightly injured when the car flipped over and smashed into a rocky hillside were Robert Howard, 17, of 375 Via Lola, and Jim Brown, 17, of 2002 Belding Drive, Palm Springs, and Terry Thompson, 17, of 37-471 Cathedral Canyon Drive, Cathedral City.

Jobless May Get Extra Benefits

Jobless desert area residents whose unemployment compensation benefits have expired may apply for extended payments at the Indio office of the State Department of Employment starting Monday.

Indio office manager Richard Nelson said his agency is ready to take claims for extended benefits, made available through the Federal Temporary Unemployment Compensation Act.

NELSON'S ANNOUNCEMENT followed Gov. Goodwin J. Knight's decision to join the other states in participation in the new federal-state program.

APPLICANTS MUST have exhausted their claims since July 1, 1957 and must be unemployed on July 7, 1958, in order to file claims for extended benefits next week.

No benefits can be paid for any week of unemployment which occurred prior to July 7, 1958, Nelson said.

Claimants must also be able to work, available for work and actively seeking employment.

designed by Lawrence Hughes, one of the nation's leading golf course architects and designer of Thunderbird and Eldorado Country Club fairways.

The course will go into operation as soon as it is finished. Zuckerman said the club will extend golf privileges to various resort area hotels. Several hotels have already made arrangements for use of the course, he said.

COTTAGES, WHICH will offer maintenance, maid service and gardening as a package, will range in price from $19,500 up, Gannon said.

Estate-sized fairway homesites will be developed by private contractors through the purchasers. As a unique feature of the club, purchasers of lots, homesites or cottages automatically become members of the Palm Springs Golf Club, which is chartered as a private country club.

THE HOTEL, NOW in the planning stage, will occupy a 12 acre site and will offer complete resort comforts.

The planned shopping center, which will incorporate a modern supermarket, will be the last phase of the operation.

Zuckerman said the entire project is designed according to a "master plan" for development of the entire area, which fronts on what is rapidly becoming known as the "Blue Chip Strip."

The area now includes Romanoff's on the Rocks, Laurie's Steak Ranch and Palm Valley School.

ADJACENT PROPERTY to the east is owned by Pearl McManus and will be developed in conjunction "with our project," Zuckerman said. He explained that his corporation "is working closely with Mrs. McManus on the development."

Zuckerman said he was attracted to the resort area during several past visits. He is now a permanent Palm Springs resident. Further information on the Palm Springs Country Club may be obtained at Gannon's Palm Springs office.

Mary Jo Richey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Richey, hosted a swimming party at her home last Saturday. Enjoying swimming, barbecued hot dogs, cake and ice cream were Jeanette Lake, Karen Pika, Joy Svoboda, and Drew Weimer of Rancho Mirage; Ralph McManaman and Bob Down. Enjoying the activities of the younger generation were Mary Jo's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McHenry, formerly of Detroit, Mich., who are now making their home with their son and family, the Everett Richeys.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dering, winter residents of Sky Ridge Trailer Park, have moved their trailer to Idyllwild for the summer.

Fern Scott (Scott's Desert Wear), (president of Desert B&PW Club), spent the weekend at the home of her sister, Florence Koenig in Anaheim, planning for their contemplated tour of Europe in August. Ben Scott is enjoying a few days away from business visiting with friends in Los Angeles and Long Beach.

A week ago Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Al Lake with daughters, Linda and Jeanette, drove Mr. and Mrs. Bob Blauvelt and children, Bruce and Steve, to Long Beach where Mrs. Blauvelt and the children are vacationing with her parents.

Recent visitors at the home of the James Whitneys were Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Spencer and year-old daughter, Shirley, of West Covina. Spencer is importer and packer of Spencer Spanish olives, onions and marachino cherries.

PATTI PATANE, one of six instrumental students who were awarded scholarships at the Idyllwild Arts Foundation upon graduation from Nellie N. Six Students Attend Idyllwild Arts Foundation

Six instrumental students who were awarded scholarships at the Idyllwild Arts Foundation upon graduation from Nellie N. Coffman Junior High, returned in unanimous agreement that the week of concentrated music study was an experience they would long remember.

They worked with the best junior high music students from as far north as San Francisco, and benefited from the sectional rehearsals and ensemble work as well as the 54 piece orchestra under the baton of orchestra conductor Ralph E. Rush.

Linda Judd was one of the first chair violins. Steve Nichols was first chair oboe and Patti Patane was first chair trombone. The three are students of Gus Patzner, instrumental director of the Palm Springs High School orchestra and band. Hellain Aquino played flute, Peter Burnett, clarinet, and Bruce Chandler, bass clarinet.

Patti Patane was chosen to play the Alphonso that Dr. Max T. Krone, president of the foundation, brought back from Switzerland. It was the first sound the campers heard each morning and the last at night, and after the concert on Sunday by the Junior High Orchestra and chorus she played the Alphonso calling the boys and girls back to camp next year.

Junior Church to Be Started Sunday by Religious Science

Of special interest to parents is the announcement this week of the Junior Church activity of the Church of Religious Science.

Under the supervision of Lucille LeClerc, with Elaine Noble and Pauline Kliebe as faculty, activity begins in the newly established Religious Science Center, Bungalow 15, The Plaza. The entrance is on Indian Avenue, just south of the Popular Furniture Store. Graded lesson material meets the requirements of the varied age levels.

Junior Church is held concurrently with the workshop service, in order that parents may leave their children en route, and pick them up at the end of the regular service.

WORSHIP SERVICE topic this week is "How to Find Fulfillment." The Rev. Lillian Caldwell will approach the subject from the idea that principle is not limited by precedent. Life itself is unlimited.

Mankind's confining concepts have been dissolved in his material, scientific investigations, where he has broadened his outlook. Yet in his religious concepts he seems reluctant to acknowledge that the principle governing all laws is limitless, altogether unvarying, and capable of yielding comparably vast expansion in his spiritual unfoldment.

KETTERING, OF automotive renown, said that every invention is an intuition, and the development of it is a series of intuitions. By a similar approach, man's understanding of his true spiritual nature might well be enlarged, Rev. Caldwell said.

Man has accepted certain beliefs concerning his relationship to God, and has stoutly insisted that today's beliefs are final and unalterable. In no other phase of living is man so adamant.

APPLYING THE limitless principle concept to his religion, man could quite conceivably discover that his spiritual advancement keeps pace with his scientific enlargements, she continued.

Native to the soul is the urge toward absolute good. Native also is the intuitive awareness of absolute reality.

When man will submit his small concepts to the testing power of the principle of life, Rev. Caldwell said, he beholds new relationships to his fellowman and to his source. To contemplate the nature of God is to enlarge the personal concept. Fulfillment is an expanding quality, always approaching the ultimate.

Rob the Cradle?

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Professional educationists met in a White House Conference a while back and went on a crying jag which still reverberates without much cause.

The need of our children is to apply the seat of the pants to the seat of the chair. It matters very little whether the chair is cushioned and contoured, set amid a soothing environment and presided over by certified pedagogues.

EVEN ICHABOD Crane, teaching the three R's to the tune of a hickory stick in a clapboard schoolhouse, gave us better scholars than we are likely to get from the Weeping Willows. Raise up children on self-pity, teach the idea that the Welfare State owes them an education, and they've had it.

You might expect that a fellow who's come up the hard way to success and leadership would know as much. Congressman Robert Byrd (D., W. Va.), born 40 years ago and a product of the coal fields, has thought his way through a lot of our current problems.

HE BELIEVES that the Supreme Court has gone mad with Communist - coddling, that foreign aid has become a form of blood-letting, that for President Eisenhower to go to a Summit meeting for "peace" talks with Russia is like going out barefooted to tromp rattlesnakes.

But when it comes to schoolhouses, Bob Byrd thinks the Federal government ought to construct them "if the States are unable or unwilling to do so." When I pressed him a little, he said that the younger generation shouldn't be made to suffer for the stupidity or stinginess of their elders.

YES, THIS IDEA is dynamite. It comes close to saying that a central government may take children from their parents and raise them up as the government sees fit. If a State like West Virginia is "unable" to house its school children, there is a good argument for Federal aid. But if West Virginia or any State is able but "unwilling," what then?

If the central government can supply schoolrooms, it can supply books and teachers, with specifications to cover all. After that there is no reason, in principle, why the Department of Health, Education and Welfare can't reach into the cradle and take kids from parents on any pretext that seems convenient.

THIS BATTLE OF THE Federal Government vs. the State vs. the family vs. the individual is the oldest struggle in our Republic's history. A good Congressman, as Rep. Byrd is, can be trapped. Far back in 1816 an excellent Congressman named John C. Calhoun (D., S. C.) was pushing Federal aid for highways and canals when another southerner, Rep. John Randolph (D., Va.) warned him:

"If Congress can legislate on roads and canals, it can legislate on emancipation."

LITTLE DID Calhoun, the greatest of all States' Rightists, think that the money he was taking from Washington would eventually open the way to Federal armies and occupation in his State. Slavery would have gone anyhow, as will the classroom shortage, but need State sovereignty be sacrificed? Should a State which is able but unwilling be awarded Federal funds as a prize for non-support?

These are not questions in a vacuum. The Morgantown (W. Va.) Post for June 4, 1958, carried an editorial titled "No Basis for Plea of Poverty." The editorial is built on a county-by-county study of classroom needs. It turns out in general that the lack of schoolrooms is concentrated in the "richest" of the 55 counties and that the bond issues for school construction are restricted to the "poorest" counties.

THE EDITORIAL cited and the paper published a detailed statistical picture showing that of the $110 million of school bonding authority in West Virginia under the 1950 amendment, more than $77 million remains untouched to this date.

It may be unfair to pick on Rep. Byrd and West Virginia to make the point. Many Congressmen have failed to think the thing through. Many States and communities are putting off necessary spending on schools in hopes that Federal manna will fall.

Much has already fallen. But this is the question: Are the States, the families, the individuals better off? Let us pause before we reply!

Imprudence: The Case of Sherman Adams

The most surprising thing about the Sherman Adams case is that it has stirred up such public and press controversy. We said the same thing a few years ago in a similar White House incident which involved the five percenters, deep freezers and General Vaughan.

Either the public is naive about such goings on inside politics, politicians and businessmen who constantly pull every angle of advantage, or an eager-beaver press had dried up its source of headlines.

FOR IF SHERMAN Adams was wrong in what he did, so is almost every other political personality on the face of the earth. They all do the same thing in varying degrees in every country, in every language in the world. There appears to be some "larceny" in most of them and, incidentally, in most of the public who accuse them.

BRIBERY, in one form or another, is ever present in our society and particularly in the political and business world. Ask any purchasing agent.

Ask any industrialist who puts up money and approves the lush "expense" accounts for "entertainment" which covers a multitude of hidden sins.

LOOK INTO the millions being spent to "butter-up" clients and prospective clients . . . public officials for "unpublic" favors — the entertainment and other "sundry" considerations that went in the build-up for the Dodgers securing Chavez Ravine for baseball, or for any similar enterprise which involves the support of public officials. It will shock the naive out of their idealistic dream.

Why do individuals or corporations put up such large sums of money to elect certain public officials? Why do thousands of firms make equal political contributions to both parties at every election?

WHY ARE POLICEMEN allowed by average citizens to free-wheel their way into theatres and restaurants, and offered merchandise at cost from stores on their beat?

Why are public officials, from city councils to state and national capitals, offered and usually accept lavish gifts of all kinds — free trips, free sports passes, free world series tickets, free Kentucky Derby boxes, free championship fight seats and free apple cider?

THE ANSWER IS because our society has sanctioned such things by condoning them and we all have become a party to this mess. From the apple to the teacher, to the apple to the Sherman Adams in political life, it is only a matter of degree.

This sin grows up with age, that's all. It is a form of bribe, pure and simple. Only it is perfectly all right when we give it or receive it . . . but sinful when it applies to someone else.

MR. SHERMAN Adams was wrong in what he did, just as the society who condones such improper acts of public officials and others is equally wrong. President Eisenhower was wrong in defending him. He was wrong in saying "I need him," regardless. In accepting Mr. Goldfine's gifts and favors Sherman Adams betrayed the sanctity of the White House, the President, and his political party.

THE PRESTIGE OF THE White House makes his act so much more imprudent, to say the least. But this is not the only reason Mr. Adams should be asked to leave. The main reason is that what he did is morally wrong.

It happened in the highest office in the land. It is now a national example. And there are millions of adults who wrongfully condoned such things, and millions of youngsters who are developing habits that are watching the Adams case.

President Eisenhower's support of Mr. Adams was the worst thing he could have done before the nation. The President, in our opinion, lost stature . . . and his prestige and party will suffer for it.

WE WOULD HAVE thought a lot more of Sherman Adams if he had acknowledged his mistake and resigned. But for him to say that what he did before federal agencies for Mr. Goldfine he would have done for almost anyone who called the White House is just not so.

Mr. Adams is available to but a few. We know from experience. Just a call from Mr. Adams to any federal agency in behalf of any one means priority and favorable consideration. Mr. Adams did not have to say anything in behalf of Mr. Goldfine.

for cheesecake. I know if he ever tried mine he would like it, but I don't want to force him. Should I disappoint all the other guests and serve a different dessert, or should I let majority rule and serve the cheesecake?

CHEESECAKE MAKER
DEAR CHEESE, ETC.: Serve the cheesecake and suggest he

THE RESULT IS the same. The fact that he called is sufficient for the head of any federal agency, and Mr. Adams knows it. Mr. Adams placed the prestige of the White House in behalf of Mr. Goldfine. Such preferential consideration is not available to many Americans.

It is idiotic to say that Mr. Goldfine, in extending such lavish gifts, did so only because of friendship for Mr. Adams. If this was true, Mr. Goldfine would not have imposed on a friend, as he did, by asking him to use White House prestige in his behalf.

MR. ADAMS WAS very deeply obligated to Mr. Goldfine, as he should have been, by accepting a vicuna coat, expensive carpet, cases of bourbon and $2,500 worth of hotel luxuries for himself and wife.

He was wrong in accepting Mr. Goldfine's shopping trip to Boston's Jordan Marsh store where Mr. Goldfine arranged for Mr. Adams to be measured for expensive suits and shirts. These are not normal friendship gestures.

IF ALL THIS WERE the result of personal friendship and nothing else, at least it did not turn out that way. For Mr. Adams in return did things for Mr. Goldfine which were also beyond the bounds of normal friendship.

His calls to federal agencies did have a favorable effect and did save Mr. Goldfine thousands of dollars and legal entanglements with the government.

MOST IMPORTANT of all Mr. Adams overlooking a unique difference in his position as a public official, or as one so close to the president, to a person outside of public office in regard to accepting gifts from friends. Public office is like a public show window.

When you accept it, you also accept certain proprieties. Iest you arouse public suspicion and resentment. Mr. Adams apparently ignored this difference and his integrity is now under question, and his usefulness has been seriously impaired.

For this reason alone we believe he should step out. Mr. Adams admitted publicly that he used bad judgment in accepting Mr. Goldfine's gifts. By this admission he also jeopardized his indispensability to the President of the United States.

JACIE JAM'S MOISIER

THIS SIDE of The Sun

By Phat

Today starts the week
We honor a group
Which gets things done
In one fell swoop.

This is National Business Women's Week, according to my little book of special days, weeks and months.

IT STARTS TODAY and runs through Saturday, July 12. One full week to say nice things about the business women, the girls who keep the offices rolling, who cover up the Big Shot's mistakes, sometimes not a bit snippy but when the chips are down, come through.

In Palm Springs we have a live Business Women's Club and I am happy to recall that The Desert Sun was able to play a part in getting them into orbit.

IT WAS SEVERAL years ago when The Sun was in the 300 block on North Palm Canyon that Imogene Hume and Mary Macarten dropped in.

It was planned, they said, to start a Business Women's Club in Palm Springs. Could they count on The Sun for publicity to get them going?

They sure could for every new organization meant a new news source—and news was our business.

PALM SPRINGS Business Women's Club has done many things for the Village besides giving us the annual Gaslight Gaieties but I'll only mention one today.

About the time they got going we had a city council which leaned toward the pure side. Certain stores had benches on the sidewalk and on these benches sat characters who perused the Racing Form between looking at the pretty girls passing by.

Council thought this annoyed the pretty girls and banned the benches.

LITTLE DID COUNCIL know that the pretty girls annoyed the characters, too. They'd study the past performances and discuss the chances of the entries.

"Now there's Frosty Fizz in the fifth—was nosed out in a photo finish once and finished second by a beautiful pair of brown legs under white shorts. Doggone it, I can't keep my mind on the Form."

OR, PERHAPS, "now, take Bimbalous in the third. Beat everything but Red Capri Pants . . . Guess I'd better read this Form inside, too many forms outside." But, anyway, the benches were banned.

This column took up the task of trying to bring them back. People ought to have a place to sit in the sun, was the argument.

BUT I HAD AS much luck as I'm having with that third crossing over Tahquitz Wash until the Business Women's Club stepped in.

Council sneered at me but it bowed to the girls. And we have benches, lots of them.

So, when weary from shopping tours and needing a rest, thank the Business Women of Palm Springs for that spot to sit.

I like 'em, too.

STAN DELAPLANE'S Postcard

Had a flat tire this morning. Surely a rare thing in these self-sealing self-contained days. The air departed without a hiss or whimper. We settled down near a clump of golden poppies. And I got out the bumper jack and went to work.

CHANGING A TIRE is about the only mechanical thing I can do. Though once I was a devilishly clever repairman.

I am amazed how few tools we carry in the back these days—just a jack and a wrench. Under the back seat of my Model T, I carried a complete workshop: Wrenches of ALL sizes. Tire pumps; patches. Screwdrivers and assorted pieces of iron. You never knew what would come in handy. Nearly everything did eventually.

WHEN A TIRE WENT flat in those days, it went grandly. With a boom like a cannon crack. The car careened madly all over the road. When you got it stopped, you had been through something!

We would then get up the back seat. What a competent treasure. You put the boot over the hole in the tire. You put the tube back in the tire. (If there was water handy, we pumped up the tube a little and stuck it in water. If there were bubbles, we patched again.)

YOU THEN PUT the tire on the rim and the rim on the wheel. You pumped it up. Let the jack down, gently, gently. And prayed.

Well, I got my tire off — the whole wheel comes off these simplified days. And I put the other tire on.

The jack is very powerful. The air hisses out of it.

OUR OLD JACKS were flimsy things. There was a lever you pushed up or down to change the direction of the lift. Often enough this got stuck. Then you dove the car off the jack! Bang! Clatter!

I took the tire into a service station. The man stuck something in the hole. What scientific days. We don't even have tubes anymore. And all my skills are useless as a buggy whip.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Manufacturing executive C. W. Tulley on the disappearance of the neighborhood lemonade stand:

"When I was a kid we used to make our spending money by selling lemonade. Now kids spend their time at the country club swimming pool."

YOU cut a patch to fit the hole in the tube.

YOU RUBBED THE tube, over the hole, with the top of the can. The top was punched roughly. Like a grater. It cleaned the rubber.

You gooped the edges of the hole with a gummy substance—I recall that it had to dry to a delicate degree. At the proper moment, you clapped the patch over the hole.

You carried a special clamp. And you clamped this on the patch and screwed it down until it was well set.

While the patch dried, you got out another piece of material known as boot. You cleaned the inside of the tire — remember bouncing tires and being amazed at the amount of twigs and stones you could shake out.

You put the boot over the hole in the tire. You put the tube back in the tire. (If there was water handy, we pumped up the tube a little and stuck it in water. If there were bubbles, we patched again.)

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Manufacturing executive C. W. Tulley on the disappearance of the neighborhood lemonade stand:

"When I was a kid we used to make our spending money by selling lemonade. Now kids spend their time at the country club swimming pool."

YOU cut a patch to fit the hole in the tube.

YOU RUBBED THE tube, over the hole, with the top of the can. The top was punched roughly. Like a grater. It cleaned the rubber.

You gooped the edges of the hole with a gummy substance—I recall that it had to dry to a delicate degree. At the proper moment, you clapped the patch over the hole.

You carried a special clamp. And you clamped this on the patch and screwed it down until it was well set.

While the patch dried, you got out another piece of material known as boot. You cleaned the inside of the tire — remember bouncing tires and being amazed at the amount of twigs and stones you could shake out.

You put the boot over the hole in the tire. You put the tube back in the tire. (If there was water handy, we pumped up the tube a little and stuck it in water. If there were bubbles, we patched again.)

YOU THEN PUT the tire on the rim and the rim on the wheel. You pumped it up. Let the jack down, gently, gently. And prayed.

Well, I got my tire off — the whole wheel comes off these simplified days. And I put the other tire on.

The jack is very powerful. The air hisses out of it.

OUR OLD JACKS were flimsy things. There was a lever you pushed up or down to change the direction of the lift. Often enough this got stuck. Then you dove the car off the jack! Bang! Clatter!

I took the tire into a service station. The man stuck something in the hole. What scientific days. We don't even have tubes anymore. And all my skills are useless as a buggy whip.

Miss MacWatters will also present a potpourri of Johann Strauss medleys and songs by Richard Strauss, Brahms, Wolf, Saint-Saens, Debussy, Poulenc and Ravel.

At 7:30 p.m. there will be community singing, led by Wilbur H. Schowalter, with Ruth Grinnell Fowler at the piano.

The Redlands Bowl attraction Friday, July 11, at 8:15 p.m., will be a concert by the Apple Valley Romanians, under baton of John Charles Thomas. There will be scenes from opera, light opera and folk and art songs. Soloists will be Doris Harting, soprano; and Norman Fontaine, baritone.

TODAY'S SPORT PARADE

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — The All-Star Game moves into the pitchers' paradise called Memorial Stadium at Baltimore next Tuesday and from here it looks like an American League triumph in what will provide the stingingest pitching contest has been in 18 years.

Memorial Stadium with its vast acreage and distant fences is not a slugger's ball park. To top it off, the American League undoubtedly has the edge when it comes to pitching this time around.

AND PITCHING, or the lack of it, is what decides ball games. Magnanimously awarding the American League staff the accolade of superiority, a survey of the Baltimore records this season has to make the American League the decided favorite.

Baltimore, as example, has hosted 33 games this season as of Tuesday. Pitching was the key factor two-thirds of the time with a number of brilliant performances.

OF THOSE 33 games at Memorial Stadium, 10 were decided by one run and 10 others were shutouts. Pitchers laboring on the Baltimore hill had pitched a one-hitter, a trio of two-hitters, a three-hitter, six four-hitters and six five-hitters.

Which means that outstanding pitching featured 17 of the 33 contests.

Both sides undoubtedly will now shower down with a record number of basehits come Tuesday. But, considering the record, this park should produce a tightly-pitched affair with the accent on getting one run across. Maybe the tightest.

IN RECENT YEARS the club welders have had a field day. The closest thing to a pitching duel was in 1952 when both sides chalked up only eight hits as the National League won a 3 to 2 thriller. But you have to discount that somewhat because the game was called at the end of the fifth inning because of rain.

Thus, to get the piece de resistance of the classic in the matter of limiting the number of hits, you have to go all the way back to the 1940 tilt at St. Louis. Both teams managed a total of only 10 hits that day—low total for the series — as the National League won the game by a 4 to 0 count.

CASEY STENGEL, the American League manager by virtue of being the pennant winner, has won only two of the seven All-Star games in which he has managed. But this time around he looks to have the tools of victory.

Old K. C. is expected to open with either his own Bob Turley or Early Wynn of the White Sox. If there's a shift to left-handed batting power he can follow up with Whitey Ford, Digger O'Dell or Billy Pierce and his ace in the hole down the stretch is Ryne Duren.

TURLEY, IN ONE Baltimore appearance this year, hurled a one-hitter. Wynn pitched a seven-hitter there but was clubbed in another Baltimore outing. Ford tossed a five-hitter at the stadium and O'Dell has a four-hitter to his credit there.

The American Leaguers also have the advantage of familiarity with the wide-open premises. So you have to be a longshot bettor to go for the kids from the other side of the baseball tracks.

COCKTAIL HOUR At the Chi Chi

Braves Drop 4th in Row
Yankees Increase Big Lead

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press International

Baseball lore says it will be the Yankees against the Braves in the World Series for the second straight year, but first those world champion Braves will have to escape from the tightest National League pennant race in history.

The teams leading on the Fourth of July will win the pennants, according to the old legend, and you can bet the rent money that the Yankees will make good with their 10½ games lead in the American League.

BUT HOW ABOUT those Braves? Just when it seemed they were going to open a big National League lead, they've lost four straight games — including 5-1 and 4-0 holiday losses to the Phillies — and now they're only 1½ games in front of second-place St. Louis.

From top to bottom in the N. L., the distance is only 7 games — and that's the shortest "spread" in league history at this point. Until now, the tightest race on July 4 was in 1915 when the first-place Cubs were 8½ games ahead of the last-place Giants.

BUT THE BRAVES can boost their morale by remembering that the "jinx" has been working pretty good in recent years. Although the Redlegs were first in the league last July 4 and then wound up fourth, actually the Fourth-of-July rule had held true in 10 of the last 12 pennant races in the big leagues.

It was no secret what happened to the Braves Friday. They just went deeper into their batting slump and now have scored only two runs in the last four games.

THE YANKEES swept Washington, 2-1 and 13-2. If they play only 500 ball for the rest of the season, they'll finish with 87 wins and the second-place A's would have to play .605 ball compared to their present .521 pace to match that.

In other holiday action: The A's nipped the White Sox twice, 6-3 and 4-3; Cleveland downed Detroit, 6-1, and then lost, 3-1; Boston defeated Baltimore, 5-1, before Baltimore took the nightcap, 5-3; Cincinnati came out of a batting slump to beat Pittsburgh twice, 4-3 and 8-3; and San Francisco rallied to beat the Chicago Cubs, 6-5, before the Cubs took their second game, 6-1. Los Angeles and St. Louis were not scheduled.

STUART RECALLED By Pittsburgh

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Dick Stuart, recalled Friday from the minors by the Pittsburgh Pirates, said today, "I only hope I can stay up this time."

Stuart, who was returned to the minors both in 1957 and 1958 because of his poor fielding and a stroke-out record, currently is known as "home run king of the minors."

He has belted out 31 homers for Salt Lake City of the Pacific Coast League and is batting .319.

SPORTS in the SUN
Wall Leads by One Stroke
In Rubber City Open Tourney

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Easy-going Art Wall Jr., 34, Pocono Manor, Pa., led a field of 60 pros and 10 amateurs by a slim stroke as the $22,000 Rubber City Open went into its third round today.

Wall, wielding an old, wooden shaft putter with an unorthodox baseball grip, carded a 65-67-132 10 under par at the end of the first 36 holes.

THERE WERE FOUR major challengers to Wall's bid for his first tournament crown of the season.

U.S. Open champ Tommy Bolt, Australian Open king Frank Phillips, two-time Canadian PGA titlist Al Balding and 18-year-old amateur Jack Nicklaus, Columbus, Ohio, were tied for second with 133s.

Nicklaus, one of the most promising amateurs in the nation, registered six birds in his second 18 holes.

CHARLES SIFFORD, Philadelphia, regarded as the world's greatest Negro player, fired a seven-under-par 64 in the second round for a 70-74-134. Tied with him were Jack Fleck and Mike Souchak.

Masters champion and defending RCO titlist Arnold Palmer remained in contention with 140.

Johnson Points To New Record

PALMYRA, N.J. (UPI) — Big Rafer Johnson of U.C.L.A., competing despite a wrenched left knee, was well on the way today toward a world record in the national A.A.U. decathlon championships, but there was some doubt that he would win the title.

Johnson rolled up 4,450 points in the first five events of the gruelling 10-event competition Friday. If he could live up to his best previous performances in the last five events today, he'd finish with an amazing total of 8,734 points.

Little Leaguers To Play Monday

Little League action resumes Monday night after a holiday lay-off with the Junior Police meeting the Boys Club at 7 p. m., and the Cameron Stars - Hathaway-Buick Braves game following at 8:30.

Lack of Water Holds Up Area Trailer Park

James Munholland of Long Beach whose application for a permit to establish a trailer park near Palm Springs was recently approved subject to its use within one year, told the Board of Supervisors this week that his request to the planning commission that instead of the one year limitation he be given until six months after water is available on the trailer park site, has been refused.

He said he wanted to make it clear that he still wants to establish the trailer park, as soon as water is available.

According to Munholland, he had been advised by Rancho Ramon Water Company that water would be made available to the area in the latter part of 1957 or early 1958, but is now advised that it will not be available until the spring of 1959.

Planning Director Tyler Sues told the supervisors that no further action appears to be necessary unless a supplementary application is filed at a later date.

Smog Is a Villain--Possible Control

(Editor's Note: This is the fifth in a series of articles by the Riverside County Air Pollution District in an effort to inform the public about air pollution.)

Knowing that this public enemy is at large and the havoc which smog produces, the question can smog be controlled is most pertinent.

The control of smog in California is the responsibility of local agencies. The State Legislature has passed legislation which made it possible for each county in California to organize a district under these laws. Riverside County organized such a district in 1956.

EACH LOCAL AREA has its own unique air pollution problem.

Dispersion of air borne wastes depends upon area air movements and topography. Types of pollutants being emitted into the air may differ with different types of industry, etc.

This does not mean that smog control is the concern of only the local area. On the contrary, as the state grows, it has become increasingly apparent that air pollution affects a large proportion of the state residents.

EXPERIENCE HAS shown that one of the most feasible means of control is beginning with an attack on the most obvious local sources.

The attack is prefaced by education of the public regarding the problem and rules and regulations with flexibility enough to meet changing circumstances and adapt to new research findings.

Rules and regulations can reduce emissions of pollutants by requiring equipment which may remove dust, fumes and gases at points of discharge in industrial processing. Regulations that require substituting the usual practice of burning waste, to that of waste deposited by the use of sanitary land fill dumps will lessen smog.

ALTHOUGH CONTROL programs are primarily aimed at reducing the amount of waste material disposed of into the air, in order to continue an effective attack against smog more fundamental information about this villain must be obtained. This can only be done through research on such items as:

1. Further identification of the compounds which cause smog conditions.
2. Extend scientific studies to determine the nature of reactions taking place in the atmosphere.

the substances enter into these reactions, and the compounds formed.

3. LEARN MORE about the adverse effects of smog on humans.
4. Develop additional knowledge so that standard of air quality can be established and hazards of health and damage to vegetation can be prevented.

5. Devise better means for measuring air quality.
6. Develop practical and effective means of controlling certain emissions, such as from motor vehicles.

SINCE EACH OF us contributes to air pollution, each of us can help to control air pollution by:

1. Stopping of the burning of rubbish. If you live in an area without an adequate collection system, help and encourage your local officials to establish such a service.
2. Keeping your automobile in top operating condition. Automotive experts indicate that smog

Board of Supervisors Adopts Preliminary Budget of $30,345,379.29 for Fiscal 1958-59

A preliminary budget totaling $30,345,379.29 was adopted by the Board of Supervisors this week. Should the figure remain unchanged and be adopted as the final budget, the tax rate would be dependent upon the amount in the carry-over balance and the new assessed valuations.

Allen Ladd, auditor-elect, told the supervisors that preliminary figures had indicated that the budget of $30,345,379.29 would result in maintenance of the present $1.64 tax rate.

HE SAID THAT a carry-over balance of $1,500,000 had been anticipated but it appears now it may be $400,000 short of that figure. "So we're talking about $1.70," he declared, "a difference of six cents, which would amount to approximately $300,000. There are many adjustments yet to be made in the budget, but not in the amount of $300,000."

Supervisor Paul Anderson declared, "I will not go for a budget that will raise the tax rate even one cent."

THE PRELIMINARY budget adoption came after considerable discussion in which it appeared evident that if when all the pertinent facts are in hand the preliminary figure should result in an increase in tax rate, there will be some paring down in size.

Richard Winter of the California Taxpayers Association suggested that the probation and juvenile hall budgets be cut, particularly in regard to salaries. He also cited increases in the budgets of the sheriff and the hospital.

WINTER CHARGED that the juvenile hall budget is up 27 1/2 per cent over last year, and probation up 29 1/2 per cent. "That's a very sharp enrichment of that program," he said. "Riverside County is high compared to other counties. I think you're overboard. Cut out the probation and juvenile hall increases."

Called in by the supervisors to defend his budget of $326,599 for probation and $336,789 for juvenile hall, Bert Van Horn, probation officer, said there have been increases during the past year of 48 per cent in case load, 66 per cent in adult cases, and 50 per cent in juvenile hall. He said on a national and state-wide basis it is indicated that he needs additional personnel increases far in excess of what he has requested.

"THE PROBATION officer has no control over the case load," observed Van Horn. "It is thrust upon us by legislation and the courts. Custodies have increased over 40 per cent in the past year. We now have the additional load of keeping parole board records. Local police departments and schools refer cases to us. We need the help we have asked for if you expect us to do the job."

THE PRELIMINARY budget was adopted by a vote of three to two, with Supervisors Anderson, Chamberlain and George Berkey voting for it, and Supervisors William Jones and Fred McCall voting against it.

"I'm not opposed to the budgets of the probation and juvenile hall," declared Jones, "but I'm opposed to new departments and other items."

"I'M VOTING against the preliminary budget for three specific reasons," said McCall. "I'm against the employment of two additional employees in the personnel department, the employment of a superintendent of parks, and the employment of consultants by the school organization committee. All three items were included by a three to two vote with Jones and myself opposing them."

"You don't believe then that the majority should rule," said Anderson.

"They are minor things," said McCall, "but good government."

The board set Aug. 18 at 2 p. m. as the date for a hearing on the final budget.
